

ST. LOUIS BUSINESS JOURNAL

NOVEMBER 5-11, 2004

Childsplay

Stuart Montaldo and his alien Cogno

Following on the heels of his success with Cogno: The Alien Adventure Game, St. Louis inventor and author Stuart Montaldo, 40, has launched Cogno: Deep Worlds, an underwater version of the game that hit stores last month and already has been named a Top 10 Game and a Top 100 Children's Product of 2004 by independent reviewer Dr. Toy. Cogno: The Alien Adventure Game received five national awards, including seals of approval from the National Association for Gifted Children and the National Parenting Center. So far, Montaldo has raised $360,000 from investors to fund development of the games and books.